REVENUES FROM LOCAL TAX SOURCES

It is incumbent upon the School Board to explain the objectives and needs of the School District to the public and to the City Council so that local support of education can provide all children an equitable educational.

The major share of all financial support for local school districts is raised by taxing property within the district. Most of the financial support of public education, therefore, is subject to bottom-line approval by a vote by the City Council.

The School Board, administration, and the professional staff will work with the Council and with taxpayers toward the solution of problems in the operational funding of the school district.

The financial condition of the district, along with its needs and goals, will be provided to the City Council through all appropriate means.
